

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

THE design of this work may be inferred from its title. It was undertaken with the view of promoting the knowledge, and facilitating the practice of Chanting amongst the members of the Church. This ancient style of music, so simple in its structure, and so well adapted to devotional purposes, though now very universally employed in Divine Service, is too much confined to the choir, the great body of a congregation rarely taking part in it. One of the reasons why the people join so little in the Chants is, that they are not sufficiently simple, and require too great a compass of voice. The reciting note is often pitched too high, and sometimes again too low. Now, if organists and choirs would restrict themselves to such easy melodies as are here presented to them, and would not change them too often, the people would soon learn and take their part without difficulty. This is proved by the fact, that when the old "Gloria in Excelsis" is used upon any occasion, the whole congregation unite in it as with one voice, and the effect is always animating and devotional. Should this book, then, be adopted as a choir book, we believe that it will become also a congregational book. Much more will this effect be produced should it be made a family book, where music is introduced into the social circle. When singing becomes a practice in the worship of the household, it will soon increase in that of the sanctuary. What should be sung in the families of Churchmen in preference to the Psalter, which is so peculiarly their own, no body of Christians employing it to the same extent in their devotions? Having become accustomed to chanting at home, they will acquire a taste for it, and be prepared for it at Church. Nothing would more tend to dissipate the prejudice that now exists in some quarters, against celebrating that part of our service in song which was originally composed for, and has ever been allied to song, than the practice here recommended, of singing the Psalms of David in prose at the domestic altar. We would by no means, however, discourage metre singing, or throw the slightest discredit upon it. On the contrary, remembering how efficient an aid it was in the early work of the Reformation, and how it has been universally allied to Protestant worship, we would rather discourage every attempt to discard it from the service of the Church. We confess, however, that we prefer it as adapted to the Hymns, rather than the Psalms; and for this reason, that prose expresses far more fully and more accurately the meaning of the inspired original than language trammelled by metre and rhyme can do. Moreover, the Psalter is a constituent part of the Book of Common Prayer, and its use is obligatory; whereas the Psalms in metre form no part of this precious exponent of God's truth in God's Church, and the rubric does not enjoin, but simply allows their use, and therefore the metre Psalms and the Hymns are bound in the same volume with the Prayer Book only for convenience sake.

The chants have been selected with great care from a very large number of the best that could be procured, ancient and modern. It is hoped that the selection will prove sufficiently extensive to meet all reasonable wants, although, had thrice the number been introduced, the book, in the opinion of some, would probably be pronounced deficient. Every organist, choir, and congregation, have their favorite music. Some confine themselves to what are called the Gregorian Tones; others incline to the opposite extreme of light and florid compositions, neither suited to the popular voice, nor comporting with the proper dignity and simplicity of the chant. The rule which we have endeavored to keep in view in making the present selection has been, to exclude all compositions that are not adapted to congregational use. Some few, indeed, if not found as serviceable in this respect as the great body of the collection, will yet form an agreeable variety for choirs and private companies.

In making this selection, we have been most essentially aided by Mr. George F. Bristow, the Organist of St. John's Chapel, who has carefully revised all the harmonies, with strict reference to the original authors, and to a pure ecclesiastical style. Upon him the responsibility of this part of the whole work has been devolved, and we bear cheerful testimony to the diligence and fidelity with which he has discharged it.

Still, however, it will be obvious, that the book has been so constructed as not to bind any one down, either to our choice of melodies or harmonies. The music staves prefixed to each of the canticles and psalms are left blank, and they can be filled up at the pleasure of those who use the book, either from our selection, or from any other music that may be preferred. This can be done with a lead pencil, so that the book may serve for the organ, or for either of the four different voices; and by the use of India-rubber, the music may be changed at pleasure. This has been thought preferable to attaching certain chants to certain words, as no such arrangement would be likely to give general satisfaction. Since this plan was adopted, and the work was in the process of stereotyping, a Manuscript Chant Book with blank staves has appeared in Philadelphia. It is less extensive than ours, and differs from it materially, but its appearance has encouraged the hope, that the plan itself will prove useful.

The verses of the Psalms run across the opposite pages, the odd numbers being on the left, and the even on the right. This arrangement is made to facilitate the use of double chants, when they are preferred. It will also be found convenient for antiphonal singing. When the choir is numerous enough to be divided into two equal parts, arranged on the right and left of the organist, one will take the verse on the left page, and the other that on the right. This is the practice in Trinity Church, and in St. John's Chapel. The antiphonal effect may also be better produced by the choir singing one verse and the congregation the responsive one, as is done in the Church of the Holy Communion. In cathedrals, the choristers are not placed with the organist in a gallery, but on the same level with the worshippers, and on opposite sides of the enclosed part of the edifice called the choir. One side is designated "Decani," and the other "Cantoris," being the sides respectively occupied by the Dean and the Precentor. By these two choirs, the Psalms are chanted responsively, the Decani commencing, and both uniting in the Gloria Patri. In some cathedrals both sides, or the two choirs, at the beginning, unite in singing the chant through once, and then the antiphon commences with the Decani side. This arrangement has been adopted, and with a very happy effect, in the Church of the Holy Cross, at Troy. Where the construction of church edifices admits of the same arrangement of the choir, it is worthy of consideration whether its introduction would not promote the more solemn celebration of our responsive liturgy, and also stimulate the body of the congregation to take part in the vocal worship of God. The separation of the choir from the congregation leads to the too general custom of relinquishing a most important and delightful part of sacred worship to the former. In churches whose structure does not admit of this arrangement, or where the choir is not sufficiently strong for a division, or when, for any other reason, it may not be expedient to introduce it, but where it is desired to obtain the effect of chanting the Canticles, or the Psalter, or both, in a responsive manner, the custom of the Church of the Holy Communion, the choir singing one verse, and the congregation the other, might be followed with a very little pains and practice.

It will be observed, that where the last verse of a psalm is an odd number, it is placed on the right hand page, because, in the case of a double chant, it takes the latter half, which is thus repeated, in order that the Gloria Patri may begin the chant. It is always to be sung, however, by the first choir, whether a single or double chant is used, although not on their page. For antiphonal singing, single chants are always to be preferred.

NEW YORK, February, 1851.

For the pointing or division of the words, the subscriber alone is responsible. It was intended, at first, to be a copy of his figured Psalter, published some three years since. But in correcting the faulty readings of that book, he found himself gradually departing from the syllabic method, and falling into the accentuated, particularly in concluding words of three syllables. Thus, the latter method prevails throughout the present Psalter. Although it is liable to some objections, it is confessedly more spirited, occupies less time in the performance, is more in accordance with correct reading, and is therefore likely generally to prevail.

Jubilate Deo.

2	Say unto God, O how wonderful art thou	in	thy	works :	{through the greatness of thy power shall thine enemies be found	li	ars	un	to	thee.	8
4	O come hither, and behold the	works	of	God :	{how wonderful he is in his doing to-	ward	the	children	of	men.	5
6	He ruleth with his power for ever; his eyes be-	hold	the	people :	{and such as will not believe shall not be able.	to	ex	alt	them	selves.	7

PSALM LXVIII.

1	LET God arise, and let his ene- mies	be —	scattered:	let them also that	hate him	flee be -	fore him.	2
3	But let the righteous be glad, and re-	{joice} be- }	fore	God: let them	also be	merry and	joyful.	4
5	He is a Father of the fatherless, and defendeth the cause	of the	widows:	even God in his	ho - ly	hab - i -	tation.	6
7	O God, when thou wentest forth be-	fore the	people:	when thou	went - est	through the	{wilder- ness:	8
9	Thou, O God, sentest a gracious rain upon	thine in	heritance:	and refreshedst it	when —	it was	weary.	10
11	The Lord	gave the	word:	great was the	compa - ny	of the	{preach- era.	12
13	Though ye have lain among the pots, yet shall ye be as the wings	of a	dove:	{that is covered with silver} {wings,	and her	feathers like	gold.	14
15	As the hill of Basan, so is	God's —	hill:	even an high hill,	as the	hill of	Basan.	16
17	The chariots of God are twenty thousand, even	{thou-} sands }	of angels:	{and the Lord is among them} {as in the	ho - ly	place of	Sinai.	18
19	Praised be the	Lord —	daily:	{even the God who helpeth us, and poureth his	ben - e -	fits up -	on us.	20
21	God shall wound the head	of his	enemies:	{and the hairy scalp of such a one as goeth on	still in his	wick - ed -	ness.	22

25	The singers go before, the minstrels	fol - low	after:	in the midst are the damsels..	play - ing	with the	timbrela.	26
27	There is little Benjamin their ruler, and the princes of	Judah their	council:	the princes of Zabulon,	and the	princes of	{Neph- thali.	28
29	For thy temple's sake	at Je -	rusalem:	so shall kings bring	pres - ents	un - to	thee.	30
31	Then shall the princes come	out of	Egypt:	{the Morians' land shall soon} {stretch	out her	hands unto	God.	32

Exurgat Deus.

2 Like as the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou	{drive} a	way :	{(and like as wax melteth at the fire, so let the ungodly periah)	at the	presence of	God.	3
4 O sing unto God, and sing praises un-	to his	Name :	{magnify him that rideth up- on the heavens, as it were upon an horse ; praise him (in his Name JAH,)}	and re	joice be	fore him.	5
6 He is the God that maketh men to be of one mind in an house, and bringeth the prisoners out.	of cap	tivity :	but letteth the runagates con-	tin - ue	in —	{scarce- ness.	7
8 The earth shook, and the heavens dropped at the	presence of	God :	{(even as Sinai also was mov- ed at the presence of God, who)}	is the	God of	Israel.	9
10 Thy congregation shall	dwelt there	in :	{for thou, O God, hast of thy goodness pre -}	par - ed	for the	poor.	11
12 Kings with their armies did flee, and	were dis	comfited :	and they of the	house- {hold} di-	vided the	spoil.	13
14 When the Almighty scattered kings for	their —	sake :	then were they as	white as	snow in	Salmon.	15
16 Why hop ye so, ye high hills ! this is God's hill, in the which it pleaseth	him to	dwelt :	yea, the Lord will a - - -	bide in	it for	ever.	17
18 Thou art gone up on high, thou hast led captivity captive, and received	gifts for	men :	{yea, even for thine enemies, that the Lord}	God might	dwelt a -	{mong them.	19
20 He is our God, even the God of whom	cometh sal	vation :	God is the Lord, by	whom we es	cape —	death.	21
22 The Lord hath said, I will bring my people again, as I	did from	Basan :	{mine own will I bring again, as I did sometime}	from the	deep of the	sea.	23
24 It is well seen, O God,	how thou	goest :	how thou, my God and King.	go - est	in the	{sanctu- ary.	25
26 Give thanks, O Israel, unto God the Lord in the	con - gre	gations :	from the	ground —	of the	heart.	27
28 Thy God hath sent forth	strength for	thee :	{stablish the thing, O God, that}	thou hast	wrought in	us :	29

29	Let them be wiped out of the book	of the	living :	and not be	written a -	mong the	righteous.	30
31	I will praise the Name of God.	with a	song :	and magni - - -	fy it	with thanks-	giving.	32
33	The humble shall consider this,	and be	glad :	seek ye after God,	and your	soul shall	live.	34

PSALM LXXVIII.

1	HEAR my law,	O my	people:	incline your ears unto the . . .	words —	of my	mouth. 2
3	Which we have	heard and	known:	and such as our	fa —	thers have	told us: 4
5	He made a covenant with Jacob, and gave	Israel a	law:	which he commanded our fore-	fathers to	teach their	children: 6
7	To the intent that when	they came	up:	they might show	their —	children the	same: 8
9	And not to be as their forefathers, a faithless and stubborn	gen - er -	ation:	(a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit cleaveth not)	stead - fastly	un - to	God: 10
11	They kept not the	{cove-}	of God:	and	would not	walk in his	law: 12
13	Marvellous things did he in the sight of our forefathers, in the . . .	nant } land	of Egypt:	even	in the	field of	Zaan. 14
15	In the day-time also he led them . . .	with a	cloud:	and all the night through . . .	with a	light of	fire. 16
17	He brought waters out of the	sto - ny	rock:	so that it	gushed out	like the	rivers. 18
19	They tempted God	in their	hearts:	and required	meat —	for their	lust. 20
21	He smote the stony rock indeed, that the water gushed out, and the streams	flowed with	al:	{but can he give bread also, or provide}	flesh —	for his	people! 22
23	Because they believed	not in	God:	and put	not their	trust in his	help. 24
25	He rained down manna also upon them	for to	eat:	and	gave them	food from	heaven. 26
27	He caused the east-wind to blow . . .	un - der	heaven:	{and through his power he brought}	in the	south - west -	wind. 28
29	He let it fall a	mong their	tents:	even round a	bout their	hab - i -	tation. 30
31	But while the meat was yet in their mouths, the heavy wrath of God came upon them, and slew the . . .	wealth - iest	of them:	{yea, and smote down the chosen}	men that	were in	Israel. 32
33	Therefore their days did he con -	sume in	vanity:	and their	years —	in —	trouble. 34
35	And they remembered that God . . .	was their	strength:	and that the high	God * was	their re -	deemer. 36
37	For their heart was not	whole with	him:	neither continued they	stead - fast	in his	covenant. 38
39	Yea, many a time turned he his . . .	wrath a -	way:	{and would not suffer his whole dis -}	pleas - ure	to a -	rise. 40
41	Many a time did they provoke him . .	in the	{wilder-}	and	grieved him	in the	desert. 42
43	They thought not	of his	{ness:}	{and of the day when he delivered them from the . . .}	hand —	of the	enemy: 44
45	He turned their waters	in - to	blood:	so that they might not	drink —	of the	rivers. 46
47	He gave their fruit unto the	cat - er -	pillar:	and their	labour un -	to the	{grass-hopper. 48
49	He smote their cattle	also with	{hail-}	and their	flocks —	with hot	{thunder-bolts. 50
51	He made a way to his indignation, and spared not their	soul from	death:	but gave their life	o - ver	to the	{pesti- lence: 52
53	But as for his own people, he led them	forth like	sheep:	and carried them in the	wilder - ness	like a	flock. 54
55	And brought them within the bor- ders	of his	sanctuary:	{even to his mountain, which he purchased}	with his	right —	hand. 56
57	So they tempted, and displeased the most	high —	God:	and kept	not his	tes - ti -	monies: 58
59	For they grieved him with	their hill -	altars:	and provoked him to dis -	pleas - ure	with their	images. 60
61	So that he forsook the tabernacle . .	in —	Silo:	even the tent that he had . . .	pitched a	mong —	men. 62
63	He gave his people over also un -	to the	sword:	and was	wroth with	his in -	heritance. 64
65	Their priests were slain	with the	sword:	and there were no widows to . .	make —	lam - en -	tation. 66
67	He smote his enemies in the	hind - er	parts:	and put them	to a per -	pet - ual	shame. 68
69	But chose the	tribe of	Judah:	even the hill of	Si - on	which he	loved. 70
71	He chose David	also - his	servant:	and took him a -	way —	from the	{sheep- folds. 72

Evening Prayer.

Attendite, popule.

2 I will open my mouth.....	in a	parable :	I will de - - - - -	clare hard	sentences of	old :	3

10 Like as the	children of	Ephraim :	{who being harnessed, and carrying bows, turned them- {selves back.....	in the	day of	battle.	11
12 But forgot what.....	he had	done :	and the wonderful works that	he had	show - ed	for them.	13
14 He divided the sea, and	let them go	through :	he made the waters to.....	stand —	on an	heap.	15
16 He clave the hard rocks	in the	wilderness :	{and gave them drink thereof, as it had been.....	out of	the great	depth.	17
18 Yet for all this they sinned.....	more a	gainst him :	and provoked the.....	Most Highest	in the	{wilder- ness.	19
20 They spake against God	al - so,	saying :	Shall God prepare a	ta - ble	in the	{wilder- ness!	21
22 When the LORD heard this,.....	he was	wroth :	{so the fire was kindled in} Jacob, and there came up {heavy dis - - - - -	pleasure a -	gainst —	Israel :	23
24 So he commanded the	clouds a	bove :	and.....	opened the	doors of	heaven.	25
26 So man did eat.....	an - gels'	food :	for he.....	sent them	meat e -	nough.	27
28 He rained flesh upon them as.....	thick as	dust :	and feathered fowls	like as the	sand of the	sea.	29
30 So they did eat, and were well fill- ed ; for he gave them their.....	own de -	sire :	they were not disap - - -	point - ed	of their	lust.	31
32 But for all this they.....	sinned yet	more :	and believed.....	not his	won - drous	works.	33
34 When he slew them, they.....	sought —	him :	and turned them early, and in -	qui - red	af - ter	God.	35
36 Nevertheless, they did but flatter him	with their	mouth :	and dissembled.....	with him	in their	tongue.	37
38 But he was so merciful, that he for- gave.....	their mis -	deeds :	and de - - - - -	stroyed —	them —	not.	39
40 For he considered that they	were but	flesh :	{and that they were even a} {wind that passeth away, and} {and moved the	com - eth	not a -	gain.	41
42 They turned back, and.....	tempt - ed	God :	and his wonders.....	Ho - ly	One in	Israel.	43
44 How he had wrought his miracles..	in —	Egypt :	and.....	in the	field of	Zoan.	45
46 He sent lice among them, and de -	voured them	up :	and.....	frogs —	to de -	{stroy them.	47
48 He destroyed their	vines with	hailstones :	and their.....	mul - berry.	trees with the	frost.	49
50 He cast upon them the furiousness of his wrath, anger, dis - - - }	pleasure, and	trouble :	and sent	- e - yil	angels a -	{mong them.	51
52 And smote all the	first-born in	Egypt :	{the most principal and migh- {tiest.....	in the	{dwell- ings }	of Ham.	53
54 He brought them out safely, that they.....	should not	fear :	and overwhelmed their	ene - mies	with the	sea.	55
56 He cast out the heathen	also be -	fore them :	{caused their land to be divi- ded among them for an her- itage, and made the tribes {of Israel to	dwelt —	in their	tents.	57
58 But turned their backs, and fell away	like their	forefathers :	starting a - - - - -	side like a	bro - ken	bow.	59
60 When God heard this,	he was	wroth :	and took	sore dis -	pleasure at	Israel :	61
62 He delivered their power in - - - }	to cap -	tivity :	and their beauty in - - - }	to the	ene - my's	hand.	63
64 The fire consumed	their young	men :	and their maidens	were not	given to	marriage.	65
66 So the Lord awaked as.....	one out of	sleep :	and like a	giant re -	freshed with	wine.	67
68 He refused the tabernacle.....	of —	Joseph :	and chose.....	not the	tribe of	Ephraim:	69
70 And there he built his.....	temple on	high :	{and laid the foundation of it} {like the ground which.....	he hath	made con -	tinually.	71
72 As he was following the ewes great with young ones	he —	took him :	{that he might feed Jacob his {people, and	Isra - el	his in -	heritance.	73

Morning Prayer.

Confitemini Domino.

2 Let them give thanks whom the LORD	hath re -	deemed :	and delivered from the	hand —	of the	enemy. 8
4 They went astray in the wilderness	out of the	way :	and	found no	city to	dwell in. 5
6 So they cried unto the LORD	in their	trouble :	and he delivered them	from —	their dis -	treas. 7
8 O that men would therefore praise the LORD	for his	goodness :	{and declare the wonders that} he doeth	for the	children of	men! 9
10 Such as sit in darkness, and in the	shadow of	death :	being fast	bound in	misery and	iron. 11
12 He also brought down their	heart through	heaviness :	they fell down, and	there was	none to	{help} them. 13
14 For he brought them out of darkness, and out of the	shadow of	death :	and	brake their	bonds in	sunder. 15
16 For he hath broken the	gates of	brass :	and smitten the	bars of	iron in	sunder. 17
18 Their soul abhorred all	manner of	meat :	and they were even	hard —	at death's	door. 19
20 He sent his word, and	heal - ed	them :	and they were	saved from	their de -	struction. 21
22 That they would offer unto him the sacrifice of	thanks- —	giving :	and tell	out his	works with	gladness! 23
24 These men see the	works of the	LORD :	and his	won - ders	in the	deep. 25
26 They are carried up to the heaven, and down again	to the	deep :	their soul melteth away be -	cause —	of the	trouble. 27
28 So when they cry unto the LORD	in their	trouble :	he delivereth them	out of	their dis -	treas. 29
30 Then are they glad, because they	are at	rest :	{and so he bringeth them un-} to the	ha - ven	where they	{would} be. 31
32 That they would exalt him also in the congregation	of the	people :	and praise him in the	seat —	of the	elders! 33
34 A fruitful land	maketh he	barren :	for the wickedness of	them that	dwell there -	in. 35
36 And there he	setteth the	hungry :	that they may	{build} them} a	city to	dwell in. 37
38 He blesseth them, so that they multiply exceedingly	ply ex -	ceedingly :	and suffereth not their	cat - tle	to de -	crease. 39
40 Though he suffer them to be evil-entreated	through —	tyrants :	{and let them wander out of} the	way —	in the	{wilder-} ness: 41
42 The righteous will consider this,	and re -	joice :	and the mouth of all	wicked - ness	shall be	stopped. 43
43 Whoso is wise, will	ponder these	things :	{and they shall understand} the loving	kind - ness	of the	LORD. 43

The Psalter, or

PSALM CXXXVII.

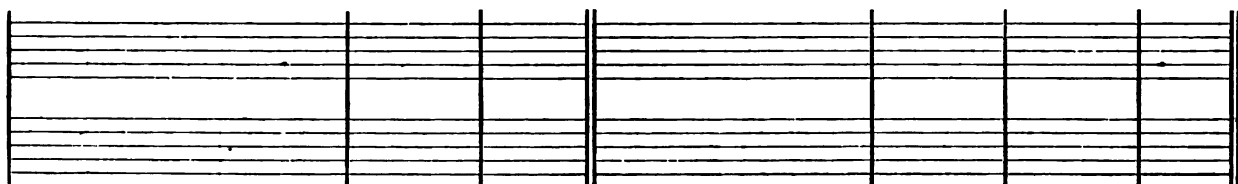

1	B Y the waters of Babylon we sat	down and wept:	when we remembered.....	thee, —	O —	Sion.	2
3	For they that led us away captive, required of us then a song, and melody	in our heaviness:	Sing us one of the	songs —	of —	Sion.	4
5	If I forget thee,	O Je - rusalem:	let my right	hand for -	get her	cunning.	6
7	Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day	of Je - rusalem:	{how they said, Down with it, down with it,.....}	e - ven	to the	ground.	8

PSALM CXXXVIII.

1	I WILL give thanks unto thee, O Lord, with my	whole —	heart:	even before the gods will I sing	praise —	un - to	thee.	2
3	When I called upon thee, thou.....	heard - est	me:	and enduedst my	soul —	with much	strength.	4
5	Yea, they shall sing in the ways ...	of the	LORD:	that great is the.....	glo - ry	of the	LORD.	6
7	Though I walk in the midst of trouble, yet shalt	thou re -	fresh me:	{thou shalt stretch forth thy hand upon the furiousness of mine enemies, and	thy right	hand shall	save me.	8

Super flumina.

2 As for our harps, we.....	hanged them	up:	upon the	trees that	are there-in.	3
4 How shall we sing the	LORD'S —	song:	in a	strange —	— — land!	5
6 If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof	of my	mouth:	yea, if I prefer not Je- - -	rusa - lem	in my mirth.	7
8 O daughter of Babylon,	wasted with	misery:	{yea, happy shall he be that {rewardeth thee as	thou hast	serv - ed us.	9
9 Blessed shall he be that	taketh thy	children:	and throweth	them a -	gainst the stones.

Confitebor tibi.

2 I will worship toward thy holy temple, and praise thy Name, be- cause of thy loving - - - - -	kindness and	truth:	{for thou hast magnified thy {Name, and thy	Word, a -	bove all things.	3
4 All the kings of the earth shall praise	thee, O	LORD:	for they have heard the	words —	of thy mouth.	5
6 For though the LORD be high, yet hath he respect un - - - - -	to the	lowly:	as for the proud, he be - -	hold - eth	them a- far off.	7
8 The LORD shall make good his lov- ing - - - - -	kindness to	ward me:	{yea, thy mercy, O LORD, en- {dureth for ever; despise not {then the	works of	thine own hands.
